

Arab League Structure of Debate

This committee will begin with the introduction of the crisis and proceed with a moderated caucus. Delegates should anticipate minimal use of the speakers list and predominant debate through moderated and unmoderated caucus.

Delegates will receive information about current events through a variety of media, and will be allowed to send and receive messages from their home governments to ask for information and receive event updates.

Delegates may respond through the use of press releases, notes and resolutions. Directives can be instigated by any number of delegates, including the entire committee. All directives must be sent to the home governments of all of the countries sponsoring them and can only be referenced in formal debate once approval has been received. Two types of directives will be used in this committee:

The delegates may issue an action order defining the action that they plan to take as a nation or a committee in response to a scenario. These actions ought to be detailed clearly indicating the nations involved, the impetus for the action and the precise nature of the action.

Delegates may also use press releases to disseminate information to the public. These releases may be made in conjunction with other nations or individually. In either case, all home governments ought to agree before information is released.

If delegates wish, they also may send communiqués to nations and parties not represented in the committee.
