Model U.N. conference set at UT

The fourth annual Conference of the Central Texas Model United Nations will be held at UT on United Nations by acting as diplomats and ambassadors, while university students provide leadership and organize the conference. Middle school students get into the act as pages.

Students will explore such topics as effects of conflict on women and children, protecting refugees, children in slavery, global climate change, international trade and conflicts in various parts of the world, including the Middle East, North Korea and the former Yugoslavia.

The conference is being held at the University Teaching Center, 21st Street and Speedway.
