

Atlantic City Conference Structure of Debate

This committee will begin with the introduction of the crisis and proceed with a moderated caucus. Delegates should anticipate minimal use of the speakers list and predominantly debate through moderated and unmoderated caucus.

Delegates will receive information about current events through a variety of media, and will be allowed to send and receive messages from their family advisors to ask for information and receive event updates.

Delegates may respond through the use of the following types of directives: press releases, notes, action orders and traditional resolutions. Directives can be instigated by any number of delegates, including the entire committee. All directives must be sent to the family advisors and can only be referenced in formal debate once approval has been received.

The delegates may issue an action order defining the action that they plan to take in response to a scenario. These actions ought to be detailed clearly indicating the nations involved, the impetus for the action and the precise nature of the action.

If delegates wish, they also may send communiqués to parties not represented in the committee.
